74 o/o PREMIUM ... DISCOUNT.

Gold ran up to ... premium yesterday, and paper ... to 42½ o/o discount! If Eur... the brink of a general conflag... il and Chile massing troops on the A... frontiers, we might find in such im... perils a plausible explanation of th... den rise in gold in this market for ... three weeks. If Minister Varela had published a manifesto announcing that he resolved to withdraw his financial bills, or had Deputy Molina presented a new scheme for increasing the currency and the issue of Cedulas, we might account for yesterday's panicky rise of three points in the premium. But in the absence of any such calamities, all are puzzled and all inquire What's up? Echo grimly answers—Gold is up!

Let us candidly confess that it is not the Bolsa that is putting up gold, simply the time-honored speculation that filled the ominous columns on the black-board is buried with the dead past. Though the mourners of that defunct speculation be numerous, though they still be weeping over the memories of "contango" and "backwardation", their grief is of no account in the gold rise. Debarred, as they are, from the magic ring, they stand as passive spectators, with crossed arms, gazing on the wreck that followed Varela's bombshell as it exploded in the sawdust at their feet. They were formerly looked on as the culprits, and they paid dear for it; in the light of the speculative or non-speculative rise in gold of late, can we be blamed if we qualify them as victims? A 74 o/o premium on gold is a kind of vindication of their fate.

Or, can it be, as has been insinuated, that, though no gold operations are chalked on the black board, speculation in gold on 'Change is as rife as ever, and still more dangerous owing to its insidious character of privacy? It would be folly to deny it, for all are aware that gold is sold daily on the Bolsa, and some days millions change hands; but is this in reality an evil? It is a breach of the Ministerial decree, but is it not a safety-valve, a providential brake on any sudden or panicky rise that might upset the market? Even viewing the operation as a lamentable breach of the decree of the Government, we fail to see what measures can be adopted to suppress the evil, if it be one. And does not common sense prompt the assertion that it would be folly to trace the great rise in the gold market to the imperious gold wants that are daily satisfied on 'Change in the strictest privacy?

There are certain wants that cannot be stifled, and, in a market of depreciated currency, the liberal supplies of the National Bank are but a fraction of the daily necessities. Only yesterday one single firm received applications to the amount of three millions gold. At the banks the managers' ukase fixes the price, just as in an exchange shop, at 75 per cent in Calle Reconquista, at 74 o/o in Calle Piedad, and 73 o/o perhaps at the corner of Calle Cangallo. In this chaotic nebulae a market is groping; and if the reserve of one bank runs low, or the piles of sovereigns in one exchange-shop disappear, need we wonder if the individual fixes his price and up goes the premium? It is reckless to deny the wants of the market—nay, the wants of a distrustful market.

More gold is still the cry! The premium rushes to 73 o/o; the minister receives a London telegram offering him 40 millions, the premium falls to 67½; bad news is wired from London financial circles 24 hours later, the premium bolts to 74 o/o. This is the daily "via crucis" for the last three weeks, and yet the Argentine Congress refuses to take up the bills that the Minister sent in to remedy these evils and normalize the situation. The Finance Minister has candidly acknowledged that if more practical, more effectual bills than his own are produced, he will be the first to applaud them. Meanwhile, why all this delay; or do the legislators wait for the premium to jump to 80 o/o to demand some palliative, some cure for the situation?

It is well to bear in mind that in London the fluctuations of the gold premium in this market are watched by keen eyes, and if any unfavorable telegrams, with regard to Argentine credit, were received from that great money centre yesterday, we may prepare for still gloomier news when they know that we have reached 74 o/o in gold premium and 42½ o/o in paper discount. Such figures will produce quite a scare in Lombard-street, and will unfortunately confirm the prophetic warnings and scathing attacks of the London financial journals, which of late have spared no opportunity to caution the investing public and warn all that Argentina is going ahead too fast. Only yesterday we reproduced a very severe article of the London Economist, alarmed at a 59½ o/o gold premium! What will it say when the news of gold at 74 o/o is wired across the water?

Thus, in the midst of our financial woes we must not only deplore the evil effects in our local world, but we must consult the markets abroad, where magnifying glasses are focussed on every cablegram from the Plate. Yet, spite of all this, some fatality seems to hang over Congress, and nothing has been done beyond sending Minister Varela's bills to Committee, where they sleep. At this rate, the situation will reach such a point that the Minister of Finance will be obliged to frame some more heroic measures than those propounded in his bills; and that this will be the immediate outcome of the present plight of the market is now the rooted convictio of all.

ITEMS FROM PARANA.

(From a casual Correspondent)

Though by no means "remote, unfriended, melancholy or slow", Parana has not been up to the present quite so conspicuous as her "vis a vis" Santa Fe across the river. The reason of this is not far to seek. Whereas Entre Rios has from time immemorial laboured under the disadvantage of being partially known and enjoying a quasi-civilized existence, her sister over the water has, comparatively speaking, only of late years put off the garb of savagedom and emerged as a civilizing and bread-producing power, no longer under Indian restraint and offering low-priced ground and paternal government to whomsoever would take them. This, of course, happened in the nick of time. Being convinced of such self-evident prosperity (as that of Santa Fe) Entre Rios determined to go and do likewise, trusting of course that her operations in this direction would happen in the nick of time also.

Whether or no that fortunate juncture was hit upon, it is not easy to say, but it is worthy of note that to-day the Provincial Government of Entre Rios are anxious to extend their already growing colonization schemes by still further inducements in the establishment of colonies on "the most reasonable terms" along the lines of railway stretching from Parana to Uruguay, with branches to Villaguay and Gualeguay, and whatever other "guays" it may hereafter be deemed expedient to tap. At the same time nearly all the ground adjacent to these lines is private property, and with the impossible prices for this commodity which ... seem to have reached boiling point in E... as elsewhere, it is not quite clear how ... government in expropriating the same, ... paternally inclined, are going to ... is in an economical point of ... propitious space of time in this ... uld lie, it is imagined, in that ... tuity "a little later on," when ... obtained the advantage ... prices and a more reasonable ... Meanwhile the existing co... particularly that of the Russians ... Diamante, are proudly advanced to view as samples of what can be done even without the advantages previously mentioned; and although E. Rios nobility are wont to give expression to ideas regarding these same Russian peasants and the difficulty of daily intercourse with them by reason not of speech alone, but also that of smell as well, yet on the whole they are inclined to look favourably on them as praiseworthy and meritorious men who, overcoming much, have made two blades of grass grow where one grew before.

As a reverse to this achievement and the wanton destruction of years of growth we have only to turn to the Parana authorities themselves. In certain cases it may be commendable to cut down trees, that is to say if there are too many of them, or if they are in the way, or if they are worn out, old and toothless trees, with decayed gums and wholly past service. But to go and deliberately cut down every avenue and every tree that stood on the plaza of Parana, and which was the only beauty spot the town proper could boast of, was a disgraceful act of vandalism decidely not in keeping with the nineteenth century. All lovers of use and beauty combined who may have ever stayed in Parana will be shocked—no other word will serve—to hear that last Friday the 21st inst. those pretty avenues and shady seats were entirely removed root and branch, leaving the square a stark and blighted ruin, and for no other purpose than to make way for a stucco to something or some one, with by way of verdure a flower patch round it, and perchance in the far future a row of palm trees which so far as beauty and shade are concerned wholly resemble telegraph poles.

With the gradual completion of Messrs J. G. Meiggs Sons and Co's. contract and the withdrawal of most of their administrative staff to Tala the English community at Parana has been considerably lessened. Still those that remain, like the little birds, not only manage in their nests to agree very well indeed but to occasionally enjoy themselves remarkably well besides. With the disposal of the Dean of Parana's charming quinta occasionally, and the no less charming hospitality of Dr. and Mrs. Soler, many a pleasant day has been spent: there not likely to be forgotten by some of the younger members of the community.

The trade of this capital city of Entre Rios seems decidedly on the increase. New houses are everywhere rising like the phœnix from out the ashes, or rather the ruins of older edifices, and every house can now boast its own private water tap.

Already the traffic on the river has outgrown the capacities of such steamers as the "Aurora", "Diana", or "Pingo", which weekly ply between the port of Parana and here. If the Platense Co. followed the example of that well known English railway, the Midland, and encouraged passenger traffic by means of more comfort convenience and cheapness, there is not the remotest doubt what the result would be, not only for themselves but Entre Rios as well. The remark that large steamers cannot approach San Fernando to disembark the passegers at Campana eats up the profits by reason of the subsequent railway trips although true, is nevertheless absurd. To do away with these railway trips altogether and by means of a steam barge disembark passengers from up stream once and for all at the Central Mole in Buenos Ayres would be much more expeditious and agreeable to them, besides doing away with the inconvenience of occasionally waiting 4 hours in the dark in Northern Railway carriages at the muelle San Fernando, a distance within forty minutes of the Central Station.

Looking broadly at Entre Rios and her position geographically, it is not going too far to urge that her future depends very much indeed on what manner of water communication is vouchsafed her; and undoubtedly the first step in the direction of improvement will mark a new era in her history and the history of those who thus tend to her prosperity.

PARIS IN 1889.

OPENING OF THE ARGENTINE PAVILION AT THE EXHIBITION.

(By our London Correspondent)

Paris, May 26th.

With exception of little Paraguay, the Argentine is the first of the South American Republics to complete its show. Yesterday's inauguration of the gorgeous "Pavillon de la Republique Argentine" was the beginning of the beginning. The great exhibition may now be said to be more or less complete. There is yet much to do, and workmen are still busy in many parts of the temporary city which has risen in the Champ de Mars. The Mexican pavilion, an imposing and solid, Aztec temple, alongside the Argentine, is still inwardly in a chaotic state, and so are the pavilions of Guatemala, Bolivia, Venezuela and Uruguay, but the edifices themselves are externally finished, and the South American quarter just under the S. W. foot of the Eiffel Tower will soon form one of the most attractive districts in the world's fair. The Argentines must have been working day and night to be in readiness to open their tents so appropriately and so brilliantly on their national fête-day the 25 del Mayo. A week ago, disorder reigned supreme in the pavilion bearing the legend "La Republica Argentina", where now from many a gilded dome and minaret flutter the familiar blue and white flags guarded by the tall, lithe and swarthy troops of the republic, whose splendid trim and uniforms gained the admiration of the French visitors. All the more so that they discovered that the Argentine uniform was an exact copy of that of their own army in 1867. I am not a military tailor, but to me, in spite of the solferino continuations and white gaiters, the general cut of the uniform, the green facings and plumed kepis gave the Argentine troops a distinctly Spanish appearance. That is as it should be. In the same way the simple blue-grey uniforms of the United States troops in the exhibition cannot prevent us from at once addressing them in English although the first reply of the lads is always "commong?" That pleased me, because the Argentine lads do the same, and the mere habit they have acquired by a short residence in France might have otherwise been a reflection on my pronunciation of Spanish. I knew their good humour at bottom, their ways and their brusque manner. I had to intercede for a French lady who had unwittingly taken up a photograph for closer examination, which she had to drop as if it were a certain tuber at a temperature of 212° Fahrenheit. It was a charm to hear all around me the Argentine vernacular. The good looking men, the stylishly dressed ladies and the still more charmingly dressed children were 'tuteando' in every Parisian bower in the neighbourhood of the Argentine pavilion. They felt at home under a bright sky and unseasonably hot sun. They could with reason have felt proud. The Argentine exhibit is one of the notable attractions of the "Exposition Universelle" of 1889. Strolling over the bridge into the exhibition from the Trocadero side, one could soon see and hear that yesterday afternoon about 2 p.m., something unusual was going on. The President's carriage was waiting inside the sacred bounds, within which no less vulgar vehicle is admitted. The inspiring sounds of a French military band came from the South American quarter—"On ne passe pas" was the order. Of course I had nothing to do but to show my card as "Correspondent of the Buenos Ayres Standard," when the Argentine troops presented arms and the gates of the pavilion flew open. The interior of the pavilion has a fine effect, particularly in the central transept and from the galleries above. The building, mostly of iron, measures 70 metres in length by 25 metres wide and has cost 1,400,000 francs. After the close of the exhibition it is to be taken to pieces and transported to Buenos Ayres where it is to serve as a permanent exhibition hall. You will have long since known all these guide-book particulars. I myself was more interested in the artistic and general effect. I ransacked my brains for all I knew of Hittite, Egyptian, Moorish, Greek, or renaissance styles in architecture until at last in despair I went up boldly to Señor—. "Hombre," he said, "decirle la pura verdad, no so—es estilo moderno." Whatever it is, some of the first artists in France have had a hand in it. The architect is M. Ballu; and why fill a column with names when amongst many others I have only to mention those of Montenard and Roll, whose works contribute to that bedazzlement which every stranger in Paris feels after over and over again promenading through the "Salon" at the Palais d'Industrie and the Beaux Arts galleries in the Exhibition. A French newspaper speaks of the Argentine pavilion, as "an immense ... allic anatomy adorned throughout ... porcelain, coloured bricks and mosaics ... effect of which is most singular." ... the outer walls are enormous glo... tions made of crimson and purple ... the deadlights of a ship's cabin ... these are electric lamps, and the ... will be seen on the night of June 1st, when the Eiffel tower and the whole exhibition will be splendidly illuminated. M. Ballu, when he received the order to design an Argentine pavilion, must have stuck his fingers wildly into his hair and said to himself "Ces Argentins" who and what are they!" He has escogitated a mixture of Moorish, Byzantine and Aztec decorations for an exterior, and in the interior he has represented the modern and western element by frescoed domes supported by fluted Corinthian pilasters. You can thus imagine what the "estilo moderno" must be. Gorgeously electric. Exhibitionally effective. Grandly representative of a young Republic rising out of barbarism in the far West too rapidly to admit either of self-examination or of classification by the distant observer.

Lunch was laid in the upper gallery. Champagne of '74, or more generally of '80, for '74 is getting used up and stale, flowed freely. And soon, as the French regimental music seemed to vibrate between the "Marseillaise" and "Old Mortales", there was no telling one tune from the other. President Carnot, accompanied by M. Tirard and M. Spuller and other members of the Government, were received by Señor Pellegrini, vice-president of the Argentine Republic, and Señor Lezica, president of the Argentine committee of organization for the Exhibition. A detachment of Argentine troops lined the steps at the entrance and received President Carnot with full honours. The President of the French Republic did not stay very long—about three quarters of an hour, and perhaps less. After passing through the Argentine exhibition and on approaching the central door by which he was to make his exit, he came to a great plaster of Paris map of the Argentine Republic in relief which filled a large portion of the transept. Quite a pretty and allegorical effect was produced by the map mechanically opening, and politely allowing the French president to pass through the Argentine territory from the Straits of Magellan to the frontier of Bolivia. As he descended the steps at the entrance he was surrounded by a swarm of Argentine notabilities—amongst whom I recognized Don Luis Dominguez—all eager to get a parting shake of the hand; a custom somewhat American, and which ought to be abolished. The pavilion was then virtually closed for a short time to the general public. It was quickly opened, and became filled by a crowd of interested and admiring visitors. The Argentine Exhibition strikes you at once as complete and practical. On your right are samples of corn and agricultural produce, mate from the Misiones, and cases of preserved fruits, and some very prominent samples of liqueurs and of oils, and on your left is a fine display of Argentine woods and a few specimens of native made machinery—rather rough—and cases of frozen meat, all glorified by the principal exhibit in that part of the pavilion—the engine and freezing chamber of S. G. Sansinena and Co. The chamber, judging from the first few hours' experience, will be a great point of attraction. The engine and system I see is Hall's. I saw no exhibit of Messrs. Haslam. How is that? The meat industry here represented by a French Basque firm is Argentine, but this part of the exhibit is virtually English. I was told that any foreign private firm is by some regulation excluded from exhibiting machinery in the Exposition Universelle. My informant, however, was English, and had not got the regulations at his finger-ends. There may, perhaps, be some regulation to prevent the machinery department being crowded by personal fads.

In the upper gallery of the Argentine pavilion, at the north end, are specimens of jargas, ponchos and colchas from Salta, Cordoba, Jujui, etc., and a large collection of natural history specimens, chiefly fish of the country. In the centre E. & W. are capital hats from Buenos Ayres, bookbinding specimens (excellent) and samples of cloth of various dyes, some of which, the orange, yellow and reds, are fine. The Half-tints are not so successful—Much is still wanted in the finish. The exibits of hides, skins and tanned leather are of course most interesting. I see there is one large hide labelled "tanned in 25 days." The new electric process by which it could be tanned in as many hours will soon reach the Argentine if the process is as successful as rumour warrants. The wools occupy the whole of the Eastern side of the gallery. There is at present no need to do more than acknowledge their existence. They are still the staple of the country and well known. In fact the catalogue of the Argentine exhibits is not yet printed and it is therefore better to mention no names and enter into no particulars. One exception to this rule I must make, and I find my Paris colleagues curiously make the same. One of the most attractive cases in the Pavilion is one containing the liqueurs of the old French firm of Berthe and Co. The present young proprietor, M. Benito Berthe, who speaks all languages with equal fluency, and is kind and polite at his post in the Pavilion, must have figured before now in your "Editor's Table", and you know, I'll be bound, the flavour of those Cremas as delicious as "Chartreuse jaune" and very much resembling it in flavour and colour. I must confess your Buenos Ayrean liqueurs appeal like all really great productions as much to the head as to the heart. The day was hot, and I was duly warned as to the necessity of mixing the ambrosial liquor with un poco de agua. I am not surprised that in some of the reports given in the Paris press of the "Pavilion Argentin" that case of exhibits was the only one mentioned.

ENTRE RIOS REVIVED.

COLON AND THE SAN JOSE COLONY.

The Province of Entre Rios is to-day a centre of great interest. Its lands, which formerly were of little consequence, are now a mine of wealth, and as many newly arrived Europeans think of investing in Entre Rios, we take from M. Peyret's interesting volume, published this year, the following account of some of the principal Entre Riano colonies:

M. Peyret visited Colon last year, after five years' absence. The town is situated on a prominent and picturesque cliff commanding the river Uruguay. The scenery around is beautiful. It suffers from one great drawback, the want of a port suitable for ocean steamers, as all the steamers have to put in at Paysandu, or a place called "El Brete", which is about three-quarters of a league from Colon. There they await their cargoes from the saladeros; among the most notable of these is that belonging to M. J. O'Connor, which is situated on the "Peruche Verna", some two leagues from the town. This drawback is, of course, a great impediment towards the advancement of Colon, but the river pilots are of opinion that all could be easily remedied by using dynamite, dredges, etc.

Colon was founded some years after the colony; the latter was started in 1857, the former in 1863. It was started for the express purpose of facilitating the traffic of the port, as formerly the produce of the province had to be sent to Concepcion del Uruguay, a small and unimportant market. The transport to Concepcion involved a great loss of time, as the distance is seven leagues.

After the battle of Caseros, two French gentlemen, M. A. Bourgnes, a doctor, and M. J. Lelong, made a colonisation contract with the Province of Corrientes Government, in the year 1853. Dr. Bourgnes, aided by Dr. L. J. de la Peña, Minister of the Exterior, started at once for Europe, and, in compliance with his contract, sent out several families, which were sent to the environs of Corrientes, thus forming the San Juan colony. Unfortunately, this first attempt did not turn out according to expectation; the families, with the exception of a few, had to abandon their farms and seek a new home on the shores of the Uruguay. Some of them are to be found to the present day at a place called "San Martin". Another misfortune happened to the "Nueva Burdeos" colony, founded by Lopez in the Paraguayan Chaco. As already stated, M. J. Lelong had also signed a contract with the Correntino Government, binding himself to colonize certain territory, and principally the ancient faite oi the Jesuit missions. This contract was not fulfilled until the year 1857, when M. Beck-Bernard arrived to see about it. The house of Beck & Herzog had already sent out several families, with which Sr. Castellanos formed his colony, called "Esperanza," the parent of all the Santa Fé colonies.

M. Beck was informed by the Correntino Government that they considered the contract cancelled. It was after this that M. Beck presented himself to General Urquiza with a new contract, but the National Government could not sanction it on account of having suffered losses by the Santa Fé, Corrientes and Paraguay colonies. General Urquiza, however, acting privately, accepted the contract on a new basis. The families arrived without any preparation made for their reception; they landed and were sent to Ibicuy, in the department of Gualeguay. Here they had to live in open camp for three weeks, awaiting the land surveyor who, on his return, stated that the land was unfit for colonization. The unfortunate colonists had again to embark and look for land on the Uruguay. They arrived here after some months of great privations. They settled here, living on game, which was then abundant. Many of the colonists had brought guns with them, thus they were enabled to keep themselves alive. Among them was a man who went under the name of "Captain;" it seems he had been one, for he had his uniform, which he used to wear on grand occasions. He was the leading man when President Sarmiento and General Urquiza visited the colony in 1870. Captain Delaloye is now dead. The concessions to the colonists were given at last: to each family sixteen square squares, four bullocks, two milch cows, two horses and a hundred Bolivian pesos to buy seeds with. Thus was formed the now famous San José colony. The colony "Esperanza" in the Province of Santa Fé, and the colony "San José", in Entre Rios have been the results of the victory of Caseros.

The half-yearly meeting of the Congregation of St. Andrew's Church, Chascomus, will be held on Monday next, 1st July.

Railway Items.

INSPECTOR LEON'S REPORT ON THE ANDINE RAILWAY.—INSPECTOR SEIDLER'S REPORT ON THE DEAN FUNES EXTENSION. AVALANCHE OF ITEMS FROM LA PLATA.—CUTTINGS FROM HOME-PAPERS.

According to Mr. Leon's last report on the Andine Railway, the condition of the road could not be better under the present trying circumstances, since, as our readers are aware, the line last month had to cope with an extraordinary traffic. He advises new rails to be laid in certain parts, particularly near Mercedes Station. It reflects credit on the manager that, in spite of the unforeseen increase of traffic last month, not a single wagon of goods was delayed.

Mr. Seidler in his report for May on the Dean Funes and Chilecito Line, states that the earthworks now reach Taclame Station; in other words, the earthworks of the sixth section may be now considered finished. Thirty small bridges and 30 culverts have likewise been completed, and 32 others are in course of construction. The station-buildings at Dean Funes, Santo Domingo, Cruz del Eje, Soto and Pichana are finished. The rails reach Soto Station, as also the telegraph wires. From the foregoing details it will be seen that the contractors so far from being idle, have done considerable and creditable work.

Mr. Schneidewind, Inspector-General, has reported favorably on an application of the Cordoba Tramway Company to run their rails along the Central Argentine to Alta Cordoba.

Engineer C. Mollet has been added to the Technical Inspection staff on the Dean Funes-Chilecito Line.

Minister Pacheco has sent Mr. Fisher's application for the opening of the Rosario Tunnel to the Board of Public Works, who will inspect it. A decree will then be issued authorizing the manager to open the tunnel to traffic.

Yesterday was a veritable report day at the N. R. Board, letters and telegrams arriving from all parts of the country from the Inspectors. Glancing over the documents before us we find that on the night of 21st inst. an Andine Railway goods' train went off the track at kil. 76. On the following night another train jumped off the rails at kil 16. On the 23rd inst. the combination train was delayed 6 hours. Before closing this chapter of accidents we may mention that a Pacific railway engine ran off the track on the night of the 24th at kil. 41. Luckily no loss of life is reported.

Dr. Araoz has received a formidable protest from enraged merchants and tradesmen against the railway service from here to Rosario and vice-versa.

The kilometrage run by the North West Argentine last month was 65,793.

A meeting of the Central Paraguay Railway shareholders was held in London on May 30th. The chairman reviewed the situation of the concern. Looking at the difficulties which had been exhibited in other parts of South America in the way of dealing with their creditors and carrying out their negotiations generally, he could not speak too highly of the good faith on the part of the Executive Government in Paraguay. He hoped that would be a good augury of their railway, to which the Government attached great importance, and which they hoped would prove a harbinger to develop the prosperity of the country, which, from all accounts, was wonderfully productive. The country had a great supply of timber and navigable streams, and there was quite an orderly and well conducted population there. Therefore he felt that the Company had a great prospect before them. Their debenture stock had been subscribed four times over, and the £210,000 had been paid in cash to the Government, and everything had been done to get the Company under way. He had the fullest faith in their engineer, and he was convinced that he would do everything to develop the Company. He had no resolution to propose.

The meeting then passed a vote of thanks to the chairman, which closed the proceedings.

At an extraordinary general meeting of the city of Buenos Tramway Co. held on the 22nd ult. the share capital was increased by 27,000 £5 shares, to be issued to the existing Shareholders at a premium of £3 per share. The issue is made to carry out a concession for a double line running along the whole length of the new dock esplanade, and continuing long the moles of the Riachuelo. There will be important connections with the old system.

Our La Plata exchanges yesterday brought an avalanche of railway-items mostly in connection with the sitting of the Deputies. In the first place we note that several disputes have arisen on the subject of concessions granted. Messrs Wilkinson and Co. protest against the concession given to Mr Chilotegui, as they hold almost similar privileges. Then Mr. Porcel lodges a protest of a kindred character against Messrs Saavedra and Co., and claims right of priority to the concession for a railway from Bahia Blanca to San Blas and Patagones. Messrs Aguero and Co. applied for privilege to build a line from La Plata Port to Jepperer, Monte, 25 de Mayo and 9 de Julio. Messrs A. Castaño and Co. applied for a concession for a railway from Zapiola to Navarro and 25 de Mayo. All these applications, including the ad-referendum contract of Messrs Sagastume and Co. for an extensive network of railroad, were sent to committee to be examined. This rush for railway-concessions, which might under certain circumstances be ennobled and raised to the dignity of true enterprise, is one of the most striking features not only of the Provincial but even of the National Legislatures. How far the applications may be considered sound is a task reserved for the committees of representatives. Amongst such a heap some must be good; some must respond to the call of necessity or enterprise. But this feverish rush is not the less a dangerous feature.

The Provincial Legislature has approved Mr Arthur Paleston's contract for the construction of a line from Junin to Lincoln, Lavalle, San Martin and Gainza.

Mr. W. White, in behalf of the Southern Railway, has applied to Government for authority to dredge a channel in Bahia Blanca for account of the Company, who are anxious to do away with one of the banks at the mouth of Naposta.

The Government paid yesterday £71,746 on account of Argentine Great Western Railway guarantee.

EDITOR'S TABLE

Good bye till Tuesday morning, subscribers, readers, and colleagues. Two holidays.

We received yesterday a very cordial telegraphic grip of the fist from our esteemed colleague The River Plate Times of Montevideo on the occasion of the opening of the new combination lines to Brazil and Europe. We cordially return the compliment, and hope that our newsy and excellent contemporary, ourselves, and everybody concerned may live a thousand years.

We observe that not merely have our Anglican residents a "high day" at Flores to-day, but that the mother church, as they say in the old country, of St. John's keeps the festival of Dedication to-morrow. The Anglican Church is this week to the fore, and much en evidence.

An old subscriber told us a good story of his little daughter yesterday. The diminutive lady was reading an English paper and suddenly said to her mamma, who has recently returned from Europe "Mamma, did you not tell me that Miss Terry, the actress, is good-looking?" "Yes, what of her?" "You must not call her Miss Terry any longer; she is married". "Indeed, to whom?" "To a Mr. Macbeth; or rather it must be to some Lord, as I see they call her Lady Macbeth." Explanations ensued; but the little lady is still sorely puzzled as to the relative positions of Mr. Shakespeare, "Lord" Macbeth, Lady Macbeth and Miss Terry.

The public were decidedly surprised yesterday

The liquidation has passed off very smoothly: owing to the ease with which passes were effected, there was little or nothing left to be done to-day, nearly all transactions having been closed yesterday. An easy money market naturally means a buoyant stock market, and all values look up; even the La Plata Moles, which fell to 152 yesterday, rallied to-day and closed firm at 161 for cash. In National Bank Shares only one operation was effected, 106 shares cash at 266.50. The whole ring, in fact, seemed to be immersed in Catalinas, which took another meteoric spurt, running up to 200 for cash and 217 for end of July, an advance that seemed to astonish all except those pulling the wires, as it was thought that with the boom of a few days ago, all the rumoured appreciation of this stock had been discounted; however, no sooner had the boom begun to-day than the whole ring chimed in, and the shares, opening for end of July at 185, ran up like wildfire to 217, closing on offer at 211. Constructors opened at 129 and closed at 132 cash, and it is said that the late heavy sellers are now buying back and with a large profit. There was little doing in Pobladora or Credito Real Shares, both being firm as a rock. Flores Constructors maintained their quotation at 131 cash and 133 end of July, whilst Pobladores Scrip rallied to 60 cash and 62 end of July. Cedulas were a trifle weaker and rather neglected.

At a late hour in the afternoon a rumour got wind that the liquidation, which was supposed to be passing off so smoothly, had begun to shew a rough edge, and two "lame ducks" were spoken of. This news drew many to the ring at the auction hours, and as the liquidator did not put in an appearance until fully an hour after the appointed time, conjecture became conviction. Mr. Marsan started operations by selling a few lots of shares, and as prices ruled very steady, apprehension began to disappear until towards the end, when the auctioneer announced that there was a shortage of over 4,000 Credito Real Shares and 1,000 Bolsa Bank Scrip. This made assurance doubly sure, but nobody knew for certain who the parties were or the exact amounts. The following is the result of the auction:

This concluded the whole business.

The gold premium shewed a very bullish tendency in the morning, due to large demands consequent on to-day being end of week and end of month. In the morning gold was quoted as high as 174½, and it stood for some hours at that price, but later on fell away and closed with buyers at 172. Owing to this being settlement day there was nothing doing in exchange, and the rate was quoted firm at 47½-5/8d.

The representative of Messrs Hawks aw Son and Hayter, the port engineers, have offered the Public Works Department to put up bridges at a fixed rate of 21 gold dollars per ton, which would save having the work done piecemeal.

A good deal of news leaked out from the Government parlours this evening at the witching hour of dinner. In the first place a payment of over £70,000, to which we allude in our Railway column, and secondly another payment of $6,960 this last-named being for account of bounty on 1,160 tons of meat shipped by the River Plate Fresh Meat Company. As our readers will see, payments are as brisk as ever, and how far these obligations will affect the market time will tell. Gold at the latest hour was quoted at 171. The fluctuations in the price are extremely prejudicial, and the railway-guarantee bills, with their formidable thousands, make up a cloud on the horizon.

Another item of news which may interest our readers is the nomination of committees to inspect vine plantations and all vine plants imported. The decree to this effect was signed this evening by Dr. Pacheco, and we may mention that the city committee comprises the following gentlemen: Isaac Chavarria, J. Huergo, and T. Benegas. That of the Province of B. Ayres comprises Messrs. J. Barraguero, Jose M. Huergo, and L. Gazola. These gentlemen are highly competent, many of them being connected on a large scale with vine-culture in the Plate.

The statutes of the new lighter concern, the Federal Argentino, capital $500,000, were laid before the Government to-day.

Messrs. M. Fernandez and Co. have applied for privilege to start a large bathing establishment in Bahia Blanca.

Chivilcoy advices announce that the farmers are preparing to sow even more extensively this year than last, in spite of the heavy losses sustained during the past three years. Thirty-two chacras, containing 600 squares, have recently been sold by the Municipality for agriculture, which with the 860 squares sold some two months ago, shews the demand for chacra lands. As to prices, it is reported that chacras which were thrown up some two years ago as useless are now selling at the rate of 183 dols. the hectare cash. The farmers have all money in hand and are prosperous, and the value of sites in the town is advancing. At the 1881 census Chivilcoy was set down with a population of 17,241 souls; to-day it contains over 30,000.

Mr. V. Martinez left the Mount yesterday in the Sorata for Glasgow to superintend the construction of three steamers of 600 tons each and light draught, which will be started by the Express Maritime Company to meet the requirements of Montevideo and the ports of the Uruguay. They will be all steel-built, and carry the Uruguayan flag.

The following transactions in real-estate are reported:—

Calle Buen Orden 579 and 583, 15x70 sq. yds. for 80,920 m/n.
Bolivar 1130, 8½x10 for 13,020 m/n.
Mansilla and Ministro Ingles, 10x26 for 10,300 m/n.
Cordoba 1454, 9x52 for 25,000 m/n.
Parque 1132, 7x32 for 12,600 m/n.
San Juan 559, 7x15 for 8,000 m/n.
Chile 2576, 7x44 for 8,000 m/n.
Cordoba 527, 7x46 for 27,000 m/n.
Ecuador 144, 9x15 for 135,000 m/n.
Comercio 721 and 723 7x80 for 11,030 m/n.
Paraguay between Billinghurst and Bollini 16x75 for 8,000 m/n.

Messrs. Lomer Lancaster and Co. sold yesterday 20 imported animals some of which fetched high prices. Mr. Casares bought one Irish mare at 1200 m/n, Mr. Benitez bought an Anglo Norman colt at 1200 m/n, Mr. Roca one do at 900, Mr. Riestra two do 1100 each, Mr. Delfino one do at 900 and several others at 800 and 900 each. The animals sold privately, are at reserved prices.

We take the following from a late exchange:—

Last week we noticed a very extensive shipment of Aberdeen-Angus cattle for Canada. The Aberdeen Free Press gives an elaborate description of a draft of about forty Shorthorns which have been purchased by Mr. D. Maclennan from Lord Lovat, Beaufort, Beauly, for shipment to Buenos Ayres. Mr. Maclennan has bought the entire crop of bull calves of 1888 to the number of twenty-one, and also eighteen one-year-old heifers, making altogether one of the finest drafts that has ever left that part of the country. The young bulls are, even for the Beaufort herd, quite an exceptional lot—for size substance, and cover of flesh they excel anything that has ever been produced in the north of Scotland, some older lots scaling already no less than 15 cwt. live weight, a truly wonderful record for animals of their age. Mr. Maclennan has been in the habit of buying the best of the Beaufort bulls for the past eight or ten years, and in open competition he has had to pay as much as 130 guineas for a single specimen, the prices ranging, as a rule, from 40 guineas to about 100 guineas; but good as his former drafts have been, the present would compare favourably with any of them.

The committee named by Lord Mayor Seeber to draw up the basis for a Cooperative Meat Society, the object of which is to supply the article to the working classes at the lowest possible price, has sent in its report, from which it can be gleaned that the Committee does not approve of the Municipality itself being the company or according any privilege whatever, but approves of fomenting the idea on private basis. There is no doubt that something in this line may shortly be expected, and if properly managed it must prove as successful as the other cooperative enterprises started and doing business.

The R.M.S. Don passed St. Vincent yesterday; all well aboard.

The s.s. Maskelyne has arrived in Montevideo from Southampton with dates to June 2nd and 58 passengers; correspondence by Silex to-morrow.

The s.s. Dupuy de Lome has arrived in Montevideo from Bordeaux with 690 passengers, 2000 tons wood, 4000 bags cement and 1900 barrels of sugar; correspondence by Silex.

The s.s. Provence will not clear until July 2nd.
